

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive (sōsho) style on aged paper. The text is arranged in three vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are fluid and connected, with some red ink used for emphasis or correction. The paper shows signs of wear, including a tear and discoloration.

北山流政公

