

Tokio, June. 28th. 1875.

Your Excellency.

It is desirable that I send a cable despatch to America to-night, to reach there before the departure of the steamer of July first.

In case your Excellency has any further instructions, I shall be pleased to receive them.

Mr. Tsuda has gone into the country, otherwise, I should have sent him to your Excellency.

My Chinese interpreter is very reliable, in case your Excellency should ever wish to communicate through him.

To His Excellency,
Okuma Shigenobu.

Faithfully Yours,
J. M. Batchelder
