Your Excellency,

I duly received Mr Lindley's papers which I subsequently delivered to him at Yokohama.
— While there, I found several documents and photographs which I beg to hand you herewith, adjoining all explanations etc I trust your Excellency.

I also saw our Consul-General who has had a wide experience of rail road matters as the legal advisor of one of our largest R. R. Companies.

He firmly believes that Mr. H. can be constructed on level ground, in Japan for from $8000 to $10000 Cald. He will be glad to call upon your Excellency & furnish details whenever you will be pleased to receive him, provided you give him three or four days previous notice. Of course I would call with him.

I strongly advise your Excellency to see him. He is a man of fortune and enjoys an excellent reputation in our Pacific States.

Waiting for your reply, with great respects, I remain your Excellency, sincere friend

Chas. W. Beane
