

Handwritten Chinese text in vertical columns, likely a calligraphic work or a letter. The text is densely packed and covers the central portion of the scroll. The characters are written in a cursive style, typical of traditional Chinese calligraphy. The text is arranged in approximately 15 vertical columns, reading from right to left. The ink is dark and the background is a light, textured paper. The text appears to be a formal document or a significant piece of correspondence, given the structured layout and the density of the characters.
