

Handwritten text in cursive script, likely Japanese calligraphy, arranged in vertical columns. The text is written on a light-colored, aged paper strip. The characters are fluid and connected, typical of cursive style. The columns are arranged from right to left, with the first column on the right containing the most legible characters, including what appears to be '元' (Gen) and '元' (Gen). The subsequent columns contain increasingly stylized and less legible characters, possibly representing a specific dialect or a highly artistic calligraphic style. The text ends with a large, bold character '元' (Gen) on the far left.