

かさね

源氏物語

上一定
桐葉

Handwritten Japanese text in a cursive style (sōsho), arranged in vertical columns from right to left. The text is contained within a rectangular border. The characters are fluid and connected, typical of the cursive hand used in literary or personal correspondence. The text appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a letter or a section of a narrative. The right edge of the page shows some faint markings, possibly page numbers or chapter indicators.

Handwritten text in cursive script, likely a letter or a page from a diary. The text is written vertically from right to left. It appears to be a personal communication, possibly mentioning names and dates, though the characters are highly stylized and difficult to decipher precisely. The ink is dark on aged paper.

夕

Handwritten text in cursive script, continuing from the previous page. The text is written vertically from right to left. It appears to be a personal communication, possibly mentioning names and dates, though the characters are highly stylized and difficult to decipher precisely. The ink is dark on aged paper.

