

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive style (sōsho) on a scroll. The characters are highly stylized and connected. The text appears to be a single continuous line of writing across the width of the scroll.

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive (sōsho) style, written on a strip of paper. The text is arranged in approximately 12 vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are fluid and connected, characteristic of the cursive style. There are several large, circular orange-red seals or stamps interspersed throughout the text, particularly in the middle and lower sections. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and discoloration.
