

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho). The text is written vertically on a piece of aged paper. The characters are dark ink and appear to be a mix of larger, bold characters and smaller, more delicate ones, typical of cursive script.

