

Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a title or a short passage, written vertically on a yellowish strip of paper. The text is arranged in three main sections from top to bottom: a small group of characters, a long continuous line of text, and a final group of characters at the bottom.

