

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho) on a yellowish paper strip. The text is arranged in two columns, reading from right to left. The characters are highly stylized and fluid, typical of the cursive script. The right column contains characters that appear to be 'お', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま'. The left column contains characters that appear to be 'お', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま', 'の', 'う', 'ま'. The overall impression is that of a decorative or commemorative inscription.
