

Handwritten calligraphy in black ink on a yellowish, aged paper strip. The characters are written in a highly stylized, cursive script (likely cursive Chinese or Japanese). The text is arranged vertically, starting from the bottom and moving upwards. The characters are difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the paper.

