

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho), consisting of approximately 15 vertical columns of text. The characters are fluid and interconnected, typical of the cursive script. The text is written on aged, yellowish paper. The columns are arranged from right to left, starting with a large character on the far right and ending with a smaller character on the far left. The overall composition is dense and expressive.

