

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive style (sōsho), consisting of several vertical columns of characters. The text is partially obscured by diagonal lines drawn across the page.

Small handwritten characters, possibly a signature or a mark, located below the large diagonal stroke.

