

Handwritten text on a dark, curved strip, likely a piece of bark or wood, mounted on a light-colored paper background. The text is written in vertical columns from right to left. The characters are in a cursive style, possibly a form of Chinese or Japanese calligraphy. The strip is approximately 10 cm long and 2 cm wide.

