昌成抄卷九

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript, spanning two pages. The text is densely packed and written in a dark ink on aged paper. The script is highly stylized and characteristic of a specific regional or historical form of Arabic or Persian calligraphy. The text is arranged in approximately 20 horizontal lines across both pages, with some variations in line length and spacing. The ink shows some signs of age, with slight fading and some darker spots. The paper is yellowed and shows signs of wear, particularly at the edges and in the gutter between the pages.

Main body of handwritten text in a cursive script, consisting of approximately 20 lines of dense, flowing characters.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Persian or Urdu, filling the main body of both pages. The text is arranged in approximately 20 horizontal lines per page, written from right to left. The script is dense and fluid, characteristic of historical manuscript styles.
