

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho). The text is arranged in vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are fluid and interconnected. Some characters are partially obscured by white damage or fading, particularly in the middle and lower sections of the page. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive (sōsho) style, consisting of approximately 25 vertical columns of characters. The text is written on aged, yellowish paper and is highly stylized and difficult to decipher. The characters are densely packed and flow from right to left across the page.

