

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho). The text is written from right to left across the page. The characters are highly stylized and fluid, with varying line thicknesses and some overlapping strokes. The ink is black on a light-colored paper background.