時書

Handwritten Japanese calligraphy in cursive style (sōsho). The text is arranged in vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are fluid and interconnected, typical of the cursive script. The paper shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive style (sōsho), likely a diary or personal letter. The text is written on a single sheet of paper, oriented vertically. The characters are dense and fluid, characteristic of the cursive script. The text is written from right to left, following the traditional Japanese reading order. The paper shows signs of age, with some discoloration and wear at the edges. The background is a dark, textured surface, possibly a book cover or a display board.

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive style (sōsho), likely a letter or document. The text is written on a single sheet of paper, oriented vertically. The characters are dense and fluid, characteristic of the cursive script. The text is arranged in approximately 15 vertical columns, reading from right to left. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and discoloration, particularly near the bottom edge. The overall appearance is that of a historical manuscript or a personal letter.
