

ALBERT BUSHNELL HART,
HARVARD UNIVERSITY,
CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

15 Appian Way, October 13, 1896.

Mr. Michitaro Hira, a graduate of Harvard College, has made an excellent reputation for himself in Cambridge. His scholarship, in the course which he took with me was very high, and he excelled especially in written work. His written English was above the average of his English speaking classmates in precision, and much above the average in vigor and originality. So far as I have known him, he has been faithful and judicious in all his work. I should be glad to have him in my own employment, for I have confidence in his ability and his performance of whatever he may undertake,

Albert Bushnell Hart,

Assistant Professor of History,

F. W. TAUSSIG,
2 SCOTT STREET,
CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

Harvard University

October 14, 1896.

I take pleasure in stating that Mr. Michitaro Hise has done work of excellent quality during his residence at this University, and more particularly in the courses on political and economic subjects. Mr. Hise has taken practically all our courses in Economics, and has a wide and careful training in that subject. Personally, I think very highly of Mr. Hise's ability. He has good judgment, independence, industry, and capacity for original work. I am confident that he will make his mark, whether in active life or in scholarly work, and I commend ~~to~~^{him} cordially to the favorable attention of any one who wishes to engage the services of a Japanese young man of education and promise.

F. W. Taussig,
Professor of Political Economy in Harvard University.
