Apr. 12th.

Dear Mr. Shirai,

I have called to hand you a despatch for His Excellency Mr. Okuma, which will explain itself. The General also wishes to know if you will kindly forward the enclosed card to Admiral Akamatz. If you will be at home in the morning, I would like to ask you something on another subject which the General wishes me to speak to you about. I will send my servant to you this evening for an answer as to whether you will be at home.

By the way, if not-inconveniencing you too much, will you kindly send me by my servant when he comes to you, the money you said you would let me have? But please do not take any trouble in the matter.

Yours very truly,

Frederick S. South
