

387

Grant Chambers & Co's Report
Japan Tobacco

There has been a fair demand of late for Japan Tobacco, and some considerable sales have been effected, about 800 Bales were sold at Public Auction at fair prices, and some parcels have been placed since at a slight improvement on previous rates, leaving but little (with the exception of the late imports) in first hands. Well selected and good dry condition shipments would come to a good market, with every prospect of better rates ruling, there have been no imports of importance since our last 37 Fenchurch Street, London.

17 September 1874