Dear Mr. Okuma,

Prices are falling so steadily, and the general feeling of uneasiness is so rapidly increasing, that I fear the position may become dangerous. With your help, the market could easily be kept up until the Export Season sets in; but, if nothing is done before then, the evil will not be easily corrected.

In Europe, the credit of Japan is at a handsome premium!

Yours most faithfully
